THIEVES SMASH LOCK; TAKE CASH AT NILES CHAIN STORE FRIDAY

MacMarr Establishment Is Added to List of Theft Victims

Another Niles business house was added to the list of theft victims last Friday night when burglars broke the lock on the front door of the MacMarr store, gained entrance, and escaped undetected with a sum amounting to approximately $16.

According to Gladfred Viery manager, the theft was discovered by him Saturday morning when he arrived to open the store. He immediately notified Constable O. W. Ebright, who inspected the premises for possible clues.

Viery stated that he had thought it unlikely that thieves would try to enter the store from the front, in the full glare of a electrolier directly across the street. He said that the back door to the establishment, facing on the freight yards was burglar proof.

None of the stock was touched, Viery said, the thieves evidently in quest of cash.

APRICOT SPRAYING WELL UNDER WAY THIS WEEK

The San Jose scale bug, apricot pest, this week shivered beneath his brown armor, as winter spraying got under way in Washington township.

Many farmers, who have skipped the oil spray several times during the past few years, are making preparations to go over their orchards this time, according to Tony Garcia, local authority on sprays and spray methods.

Garcia states that a survey of the local orchards show that the scale bug infestation is light for the most part, but that orchards that have not been sprayed for several years show a heavy infection. Garcia recommends that at least a light spray be given to orchards that were not sprayed last year.

In a few instances, orchardists are hurrying in the burning of their brush, which job was interrupted by rains.

NILES CHAMBER TAKES OVER TASK OF FILLING BOY SCOUT FUND QUOTA

Civic Body Appoints Groups to Contact Individuals

Determined to bring Niles into its proper place in the filling of the Boy Scout Fund quota, which is far below par here at the present time, the Niles Chamber of Commerce Monday appointed a committee to contact individuals in the town, in order that those willing ,and not interviewed heretofore, may have an opportunity to contribute.

F. V. Jones, chamber head stated that as a solid organization the civic body is looked upon as somewhat responsible for the success of the campaign. He deplored the departure from the usual methods of collecting, used in years past, and voiced the opinion that very few people were asked to contribute this year. The new method, of asking organizations to account for their membership proved ineffective, only two organizations contributing out of 31 contacted. Various members of the civic group, who have always given toward the fund, said that they were not approached this time. The chamber committee will make a canvass of the town in an effort to fill the Niles quota, which is less than half filled at the present time.

A. Agosti, principal of the Washington Union high evening school was a guest at the meeting. He expressed his pleasure in attending, and gave a brief outline of the work being done in the school. He told of the interest in commercial subjects, and the growing interest in shop work. He said that industrial art work was taking the eye of many. In closing he mentioned that it was the purpose of the night sihool and the wish of the trustees that any subject should be taught in which the people of Washington township showed a definite interest.

In answer to questions concerning the recently defeated courthouse bonds, Supervisor Ralph V. Richmond stated it is unlikely that the project will be resubmitted to the voters unless petitions bearing 20 or 30 thousand names are sent to the board of supervisors. Richmond said that it is a possibility that the new courthouse will be built at some future time, funds to be raised by a direct tax.

Richmond also spoke of a possible project in the unincorporater area of the county; to post all the rural roads with their proper names. He said action was pending the outcome of a similar proposal for Castro Valley.

George B. Hess, manager of the Morton Salt company at Newark, will be the speaker at the meeting January 15.

ALVARADO FARMER WOUNDED BY STRAY BULLET MONDAY

J. Logan Struck While Adjusting Plow In Field

Struck by a stray bullet while working on his ranch near Alvarado Monday, Ted Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Logan, was painfully but not critically wounded. He was treated by Dr. Ormsby, at Centerville. The bullet was removed Tuesday at an Oakland hospital.

Bending over to adjust his plow while at work in the field, Logan was struck high on the thigh. The bullet, almost spent, inflicted a flesh wound.

Suspecting that utter carelessness might have been the cause of the accident, Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, Constable O. W. Ebright, and Constable Tom Silva combed the neighborhood. An automobile party nearby were questioned but proved to be mushroon hunters. They had no gun in their possession.

Dr. Ormsby, judging from the nature of the wound, stated that the bullet had probably ricocheted from the ground. Logan is recovering at his home.

Gieb Brothers Off to Naval Base Tomorrow

James and George Gieb, two tall, husky sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gieb, of Niles, will leave tomorrow for San Diego where they will begin a 4 month period of training at the United States Naval base. Both boys joined the navy three months ago, and have passed their preliminary physical tests.

At the completion of their training period, the boys will be given a ten day leave, after which they will be assigned to their ships. Both state that they prefer the destroyer class.

James and George Gieb, both former students of the Washington Union high school, and raised in Niles, have been receiving the good wishes of hosts of friends, who express genuine regret at seeing them leave.

Irvington Churchwomen Will Gather Tomorrow

The Churchwomens' Association of the Irvington Community church will hold its usual monthly meeting Friday afternoon, January 12, at the home of Mrs. Allan Hirsch.

Mrs. Allan Hirsch and Mrs. Carl Christiansen will be hostesses. Important business matters are to be discussed pertaining to the ladies contribution to the church building fund.

Scouts Welcome Scouts At Feast Monday Night

The official welcome to boys from troop 1, who joined troop 2 in the Scout troop amalgamation in Niles, was given Monday night when all the Boy Scouts met at a wienie roast and general good time at the scout headquarters. Seven scouts were welcomed into the larger troop. Games were played and an all round good time was had.

About 9 scouts of the former troops have joined a sea scout unit under the leadership of Morrison Green. Only boys of 15 or over were eligible to join the sea scouts.

At the beginning of the century, the waters of San Francisco bay and the streams of Washington township teemed with fish. Oysters, clams and small crabs could easily be gathered at the bay edge.

ED. ENOS NAMED AS DEPUTY REVENUE COLLECTOR

Edward Enos, son of one of the prominent pioneer families of this district, has been appointed Deputy Internal Revenue Collector for northern California by John V. Lewis, chief collector, according to a statement issued this week.

Enos, raised in this locality, attended the Niles grammar school and the Washington Union high school. He was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1932. While at the latter institution his desire to study economic and political science was fulfilled. During his college years and since his graduation, Enos has been affiliated with the Democratic party. He is a member of the Washington Township Democratic club.

Another appointment made recently in Washington township, is the naming of Julia Ruschin to the postmastership at Newark. Miss Ruschin is a native of Newark, the daughter of Louis Ruschin. She is a graduate of Washington Union high school, and attended San Jose State college.

C. R. Rankin At Head of Pipeline Across S.F. Bay

C. R. Rankin, for 20 years field construction engineer with the Hetch Hetchy, is likely to move with his family to Niles soon,, from which place he will direct the construction of the new bay crossing pipeline for which the Federal government recently granted a loan.

According to E. G. Cahill, speaking for the Public Utilities Commission of San Francisco, Rankin has been given his choice of the remaining Hetch Hetchy jobs for his continuous and effective work in the dangerous construction of the project.

HOUSING CENSUS TO BE COMPLETED BY END OF JANUARY

Federal Survey of Farm Conditions Well Under Way

Progress is being made in the Federal Farm Survey in southern Alameda county, according to word from Mrs. Nell F. Meyers, of Niles, who is carrying on the work in this district.

Eighty-one farm owners have been contacted by Mrs. Meyers, and have filled out the required questionaire which deals with housing conditions and necessary repairs.

The work is to be finished by February 1, Mrs. Meyers says, adding that during the last three weeks she has covered the territory around Sunol, Niles, Mission San Jose and Centerville. She is now working in the Irvington-Warm Springs region.

Mrs. Meyers states that courtesy and willingness have met her approach in all cases.

Hetchy Tunnel "Holed Through" Last Friday

After several years of construction, during which time a number of workers lost their lives in mishaps, the twenty eight miles of Hetch Hetchy tunnel, from the Tesla Portal on the San Joaquin side to the Irvington portal on the Santa Clara valley side, was holed through Friday 2000 feet below the surface between the Mitchell and Mocho shafts. The joining of the tunnels marks a turning point in the water project construction.

Survey for the auxiliary pipeline from the Irvington portal to the east side of San Francisco bay has been completed, it is said, and actual construction is soon to follow.

Mrs. Nell Farrington Meyers, of Niles, took her place among the eminent American poets, when one of her poems appeared recently in a volume of American poetry published by the Empire publishing company, of New York. Name of the new book is "Eminent American Poets." It is illustrated by Eleanor Falk.

A member of the American Penwomen's Association, Mrs. Meyers has attracted wide attention with her sympathetic and penetrative work. TRADE MARKS

I came upon a lonely shrine today—
Where once a child had lived, and gone away;
A tiny store had flourished 'neath a pine;
Doll clothes had graced the empty swaying line;
Mud pies stood drying, sad . . . . alone.
No warmth within the ashes on the stone;
No laughing, childish echoes through the glen
Save rustling leaf, and bird call . . . now and then.

And naught remains of that brief hour of joy,
But hallowed silence . . . . and a broken toy.

TRIO SLAY DEER OUT OF SEASON SATURDAY; SEIZED BY RANGERS

Oakland Hunters Admit Killing Doe Near Calaveras

Sharp vision and quick action of range riders Dan McCarthy and Jerome D. Lopez, of the Calaveras reserve, Saturday were responsible for the seizure and arrest of three poachers who had brought down a deer out of season. The animal was a doe. The prisoners were A. Curran, E. Asmussen and E. B. Smith, all of Oakland. Smith pleaded guilty before Judge J. A. Silva and was sentenced to 25 days in the county jail.

Catching sight of the hunters across a ravine, the rangers watched them through field glasses until they disappeared from sight. Hearing several shots, the riders overtook the trio, who were in possession of a heavy rifle and a pistol, and arrested them on suspicion. Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch and Constable Ebright were called and the three suspects were taken to Niles. In the meantime, the riders had searched the brush and discovered the warm carcass of the doe.

When confronted with the evidence, Smith, one of the hunters, admitted that he had done the shooting.

Radbruch and Ebright Saturday morning had the deer dressed at a Niles butcher shop and took the meat to the Alameda county prison farm, near San Leandro.

Well patroled by able riders, the Calaveras region has proved to be a hot area for out-of-season hunters and poachers.

TEMPORARY SYSTEM TO TEST VALUE OF PROJECT

The Water District last week authorized the committee that has been handling the creek-bed percolation projects to proceed with the installation of a temporary system to check the percolation into the gravels in two large pits west of Niles. The temporary installation will determine the value of the proposed project for pouring quantities of the creek flow into the sub-surface gravels.

The survey of the projects was completed in the latter part of November, 1933.

As drawn up, plans for the project call for a diversion ditch from the creek channel into the largest of the two pits, in order that flood water will flow from the channel into the pit, the bottom of which has been scoriated and furrowed to facilitate percolation. A pumping system is proposed for the smaller pit. If the temporary system proves the value of the idea, work will progress on the construction of the permanent project.

NILES FIREMEN TRY TENTATIVE TEAM SUNDAY

Testing their strength for the first time with a tentative lineup, the Niles Firemen were defeated Sunday at the Niles grammar school grounds by a score of 12 to 6. The opposing team, consisting of players from Niles and surrounding towns showed a little better form with the bat.

All a little bit out of training, the Firemen showed flashes of form, which gave promise of effectiveness when the batting eye comes back. Joe Machado, captain of the new organization nursed his arm carefully on the mound, and relinquished the post to Tony Silva in the 6th inning. Silva's control, when coupled to a curve ball will make him a smooth pitcher. Marcel Sullivan's playing at second base will be heard from.

The Firemen's lineup was as follows: Machado, p; Donovan, c; Elmer Miller, 1b; Marcel Sullivan, 2b; Joe Perry, 3b; Tony Silva, ss; Mendonca, lf; R. Bettencourt, cf; J. Perry, rf.

ABATEMENT PLAN UNDER CWA GIVES EMPLOYMENT TO 27

700 Acres Southwest Of Warm Springs To Be Drained

Twenty-six men, formerly Washington township unemployed, are producing gratifying results on the Federal Pest Mosquito Control project southwest of Warm Springs, according to Roland Bendel, who is supervising the work.

Progressing under the CWA the men have completed 3,645 feet of lineal ditch in four days, working under difficult conditions. According to Bendel, the men are producing results, thus dispelling the current notion that CWA jobs are a soft spot.

The Warm Springs project slated for completion by February 15, contemplates the drainage of 700 acres of mosquito breeding marsh. Water from the small hill streams have been backed up in shallow lakes during the rainy season. The construction of the drain ditches will do away with this evil.

A similar project on the marshland south of Dumbarton point will begin, officials say as soon as shovels and boots can be secured to equip the men. The project has been approved by the Federal commission and the state Civil Works administration, and will give work to 24 more men.

Men working on the Warm Springs project are being paid at the rate of 60 cents an hour. Total cost of the project is estimated at $5,100. Work is being carried on under the pest control fund which is administered by Prof. W. B. Herms, ex-officio State Entomilogist, and a trustee of the local abatement district.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Let's forget about the roar of Times square and the so-called "Great White Way" for a little while and take a jump over to Cape Cod. There's the quiet village of Harwich port which figured so largely in the news because of the kidnaping of the little McMath girl. There are several Harwiches, East Harwich, Harwich Center, etc., since the town of Harwich, which corresponds to a township in many states, covers a large area. The history of Harwich goes back a long way. There are, of course, the old families, whose history is entwined with that of the cape, and those who come there summers. No matter how many seasons they may have spent there, they are "still foreigners" and in the opinion of many old timers, who perhaps make a year's living in a few weeks in summer because of their presence, "the foreigners have spiled the cape."

Despite the presence of "foreigners," Harwich is a most pleasant locality. But away back in the middle of the 1700s, it must have been different. In his book, "Cape Cod. Ho!" Arthur Wilson Tarbell wrote of Rev. Edward Pell, who crossed the Great Divide in 1752. The request of Rev. Mr. Pell was that he be buried in Brewster because. "If left among the pines of Harwich, I might be overlooked at the Resurrection, for the Lord would hardly think of looking in such an ungodly place for a righteous man."

Speaking of crossing the Great Divide, there was the Cape Codder, who made preparation for such an extremity. He built a beautiful tomb and his neighbors came to congratulate him. "Well," he said, swelling just a bit with pride, "she'll stand forever and she sleeps six."

In the lobby of the Harwich Port hotel at which traveling men stop, a number of salesmen were discussing Cape Codders and their characteristics. One told the story of the Cape Cod merchant who wouldn't handle a certain brand of cigars because people were always coming in and buying them. "That may be an old story," remarked one of the group. "But the same thing actually happened to me in one of the cape towns last week. The old fellow couldn't be bothered with customers coming in all the time, so he threw out my line."

Reverting to those foreigners who have "spiled the cape," there was the old captain who was asked whether or not a certain family were Cape Codders. "They might be called that," he said. "But they ain't been livin' here more'n forty years."

Just a bit "sot" in their ways are the Cape Cod natives. For instance, there are the clam sellers. During the days of prosperity, they got together and set the price at 70 cents a pail for little-necks. Now, while they may sell them to the Boston fish wharf for 50 cents a pail—and that's quite a piece to transport them—if a customer drives right up to the shanty, he can't buy them for less than 70 cents.

Then there was the Harwich port police officer who, when asked his name by a reporter, replied, "I'm not bein' paid for tellin' you that, sir." And that ended the matter as far as he was concerned.

Only space enough now for a flashback to Broadway for a height of optimism note: A six-piece German band playing in front of a mid-town hotel where the guests are mostly unemployed actors and musicians.

Contortionist's Skill Laid to Fall in Youth

Tyler, Texas.—A fall from a barn when he was nine years old is believed by physicians to be the secret of the contortion ability of G. R. Deartey, twenty-three, who arrived here recently from Los Angeles.

Judge Rules Nightmares No Grounds for Divorce

Kingdom of Prester John

The Kingdom of Prester John has never been identified. He was supposed to have been a Christian king and priest living in the Middle Ages probably in Asia or Africa. Naval Stores in 1600

In America the collecting of resinous sap from pine trees began as early as 1600, says the American Tree association. Until the middle of the Nineteenth century the methods employed were primitive and the uses of the product were limited. Later the number of uses to which the products were put were increased greatly.

Animals and Electricity

Writing for Everybody's Magazine, a biologist confesses, "Why some fish should be capable of generating electricity is a mystery, because no animals or birds can do so, nor can any reptiles. All we know is that they do, and that they use their deadly power to keep their foes at bay and also as a weapon of offense."

WESTERN AUSTRALIA NOW IN SPOTLIGHT

Breaks With Commonwealth by 2 to 1 Vote.

Washington.—At the polls and at her gold mines Western Australia's activities have drawn the spotlight of news. With the definiteness of a two to one referendum she has recently proclaimed her secession from the commonwealth, suggesting the first break in the confederation of the six Australian states that has existed for 32 years.

Although authorities maintain that the action can have little effect, because there is no governmental machinery allowing any state to withdraw, yet Western Australia's protest has been made. An outburst of gold fever, too, inspired by the present high prices of that metal, has awakened new activity at her one-time boom mines.

"Western Australia, comprising approximately one-third of the whole island continent, has made rapid strides in its century of development," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "Especially during the last half century, it has seen significant progress, yet vast areas in its 975,920 square miles are desert and waste land.

Had Boom Like California.

"Gold mining gave the land its first boom. Kalgoorlie, Coolgardie, Kimberley, and other gold fields poured millions into the world's coffers. In 1903, when it reached its highest point, Western Australia produced $43,000,000 worth of the precious metal. In 37 years of its greatest activity, its mines enriched the world's gold supply by $775,000,000.

"Kalgoorlie, with its famous 'Golden Mile' and other nearby mines, mushroomed almost over night into a roaring camp, and became much like San Francisco in '51 or Dawson in '99. Former President Hoover, as a young mining engineer, once worked in this rich mining district, and successfully put many 'sick mines' into profitable operation.

"As gold production waned, Western Australia, once known as 'the land of sin, sun, and sand,' became a new land of promise through its wheat fields, forests, and cattle and sheep grazing areas. Today, however, Kalgoorlie is again taking on many of the aspects of a rip-roaring mining camp, and many of the 'swaggies' or 'sundowners' are again plodding the sun-parched regions to set out new claims. A chemical syndicate is also reworking to a profit old tailings and poorer dirts. It is doubtful, however, that Western Australia will ever again produce the quantities of gold that it once did, yet some of the old prospectors are always hoping that they will one day strike it rich.

Important Wheat Region.

"In less than a quarter century of agricultural development Western Australia increased her export of wheat from $35 to $35,000,000. Of the slightly more than four and three-quarter million acres of land now under cultivation, nearly four million acres are devoted to the growing of wheat, with a recent yield of more than 53,500,000 bushels.

"On more barren areas graze more than 9,800,000 head of sheep and 800,000 cattle. The wool clip furnishes the largest export next to gold and wheat.

"The cities along the west coast are not large. Perth, the capital, has only a little more than 200,000 population. Many of the others live only by virtue of their position as exporting centers for the cattle and sheep country. Broome, along the northern part of the coast, is one of the most interesting because of the fact that it is one of the few 'Asiatic' towns in the 98 per cent British-born population of Australia. There live many Japanese, Chinese, Malays, Filipinos, and Koepangers from Timor, who are engaged in the pearl and pearl shell industry.

"Western Australia may well feel a certain independence from the rest of Australia because she is more or less isolated by a great desert region 500 miles wide and 1,000 miles long. Air services and the transcontinental train system with its branches, however, do link up many of the towns in Western Australia and bring them into close communication with Canberra, the new capital, and cities on the eastern coast.

"Despite the fact that the western province does have much barren waste land and in some cases has had to pump water through 350-mile lengths of pipe line, it does hold promise for great development in the future for there are many areas still unexploited. Also, with a climate ranging from tropical to temperate, a fairly wide range of products can be grown successfully."

Americans Leave Argentine

Buenos Ayres. — Reflecting the shrinkage of American trade in Argentina, the American colony here has declined to 2,696 from 3,400 one year ago, according to a consular census.

Cold Wave Origin Obscure

Cold waves usually form high in the air over the northern and southern cold regions and move towards a warmer climate. But, according to the weather bureau, a cold wave occasionally occurs with its origin unknown, as there is no reserve of cold, heavy air piled up in either the Arctic or Antarctic regions at the time to cause such a movement. Some scientists and meteorologists are of the opinion that these cold spells may originate high over the equator where the stratosphere is much higher and colder than at the polar regions. This is a matter that probably will not be settled until stratosphere flights are regular events.

Some Hard Winters

In 1269 the Baltic sea was crossed by sledge. In 1339 a great many persons were frozen to death in England. In 1409 the Danube was frozen from her source to her estuary in the Black sea. In 1469 all vines in France were killed by frost. In 1609 and 1639 the port of Marseilles was frozen over, and there was great suffering and distress. In 1709 France was icebound from north to south, the ice extending for miles seaward.

Ancient Egyptians

The International Cyclopedia states that the ancient Egyptians believed themselves to be an indigenous people, free from all foreign admixture, and all the known facts tend to favor their contention. Both their language and their physical characteristics show that they belong to the Hamitic branch of the Caucasian race, the white inhabitants of northern Africa. Some scholars believe that the Egyptians and the kindred Hamitic races migrated in prehistoric times from Asia to Africa while other scholars hold northern Africa to be the original home of the race. The people of Egypt are chiefly of mixed Arab and negro blood, but the Egyptian of pure blood is said to have much the same features as are to be found on mummies dating thousands of years back.

Golf's Introduction

The game of golf was old and well developed when it was introduced into the United States. The first games were played in New York in 1890. Solid rubber balls were used. Earlier in the history of the game balls made of feathers, encased in leather were employed, but not in this country.

"Alcohol" an Eye Paint

The word "alcohol" is of Arabic origin, the term having been first applied to a black paint used by eastern women to darken their eyes. How it came to be used to designate the substance which now bears the name is not directly known. It has been facetiously suggested that it still serves as the vehicle for the production of blackened eyes.

CAMPFIRE PROGRAM SLATED FOR JAN. 19 AT WASHINGTON HI

Entertainment First of Its Kind In South Alameda County

Campfire work of Washington township will be presented in a program to be given at the Washington Union High school auditorium Friday evening, January 19 at 8:15 o'clock. Tinega group is to appear in a three-act play entitled "The Returning of Rosalia." Certin phases of campfire activities, including a council fire, will appear during the play, which is woven around the entertaining story of a little girl stolen by the gypsies and returned years later to her mother through the efforts of two campfire girls who don the costumes of farmer boys and "play detective."

As this is the first public appeal made for campfire work, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, local guardian, and in charge of the program, hopes that the girls will be given the same support and cooperation received by the Boy Scouts.

The purpose of the program is to present campfire work to the mothers and fathers of Washington township and to secure assistants in this character building, citizenship training endeavor.

The entertainment will be well worth the nominal entrance fee, 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. It will include vocal music by the Gemewauance group under the direction of Mrs. Rogers, instructor at the Decoto public school. Numbers will be furnished by the high school orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Belleci. The grand finale will include 40 campfire girls and eight scouts. Special dance numbers will be furnished by Miss Malm, instructor in dancing at the Williamson school. Miss Malm has just finished a season in the ballet at the San Francisco opera.

Those taking part in the play are Betty Robinson, Ramona Mello, Leona Solon, Peggy Munger, Barbara Kibby, Eleanor and Rosalie Harrold, Evelyn Pond, Vivian May Logan, Anna Milicent Shinn, Marjorie Griffith and Barbara Straub.

Campfire work was started in Washington township nine years ago. Mrs. A. Goozee organized the first group made up of ten girls. This number has grown to four groups enrolling forty girls in all.

At present all meetings are held at Mrs. Townsend's home under her direction. She is badly in need of assisting leaders and it is hoped that among those who witness the program on the 19th will be found several who will be willing to become assistant guardians. It is also hoped that when these leaders are secured groups may meet in the individual towns of the township instead of it being necessary for all girls to come to Niles for the meetings.

The Campfire board is assisting in the arrangement of the program. Board members are: Mrs. H. Harrold, Mrs. M. Munger, Mrs. Fred Rogers, Mrs. George Coit, Mrs. Fred Dusterberry, Mrs. Jack Williamson, Mrs. R. L. Pond, Mrs. L. Solon, Mrs. C. Griffin. Other campfire mothers who are assisting are Mrs. H. Kibby, Mrs. G. Coley and Mrs. L. Mello.

is the time to prevent rickets

EXPECTANT mother, what if your child should develop rickets (softening of the bones) — that dread affliction of early childhood which so often leads to deformities?

Usually it is due to malnutrition — during pregnancy as well as after birth. Guard against it before baby arrives. You can take nothing finer than Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. Its abundance of precious vitamin D helps to build strong bones and, later, sound teeth.

And of vitamin A one tablespoonful of Scott's Emulsion contains more than does a whole quart of milk. Just what mother and child both need for health to ward off "colds" and the many more serious complications that so often follow!

Scott's Emulsion is trustworthy, pure, efficacious. Sixty years on the market —and better today than ever. All druggists — 60c and $1.20.

THE BEST COD LIVER OIL IS IN SCOTT'S EMULSION
—AND YOU CAN'T TASTE IT!

Castro Valley Man Is Struck Down By Pleasanton Autoist

Because of the dense fog, Manuel Lewis, of Pleasanton, struck A. D. Ohe, 65, Castro Valley rancher, with his car killing him almost instantly, when Ohe was walking on the Foothill Boulevard a mile east of the Fairmont hospital, at about eleven o'clock last Wednesday evening.

Lewis picked up the injured man and took him to the Fairmont hospital but Ohe was pronounced dead when he arrived there.

Lewis then notified the traffic highway patrol office in Hayward and Joseph Macer who was on duty at that time came and investigated the accident. Lewis told Macer that he could not see the pedestrian because of the heavy fog and stated that Ohe was walking near the center of the highway.

The sheriff's office in Oakland was notified and after investigating the case came to the conclusion that the accident was unavoidable, and Lewis was released without any charges being placed upon him.

Although the coroner's inquest will not be held until today it is expected that Lewis will be exonerated of all charges.

CLUBWOMEN ENJOY TALK ON HEALTH BY DR. I.O. CHURCH

Says Sanitation and Food Inspection Are Not Adequate

Dr. I. O. Church, county health officer, Tuesday dispelled the fears raised by the question "Is it safe to live in the country", when he answered that, "safety of living in the rural regions is in proportion to preparations for fighting disease and maintaining health." He intimated that residents of Washington township need have no qualms save for the fact that there is a lack of adequate inspection service in the country for foods, sewers, dairies, etc. Sanitation does not receive its due attention.

Beginning his address with an historical basis, Dr. Church told of the antiquity of sanitation, and the cognizance of health problems. He told of the aqueducts and sewer systems of Rome, some constructed as early as 500 B. C. Stating that the era of curative medicine, as old as man himself, gave way to preventative medicine in about 1790, Dr. Church told of the pioneers of research. He told of Koch's tireless experiments with the tuberculosis bacillus; of Jenner's final triumph in finding a serum for smallpox, and of Pasteur's struggle to eliminate the anthrax germ.

Coming to the modern era, and home to the county where his work has been of great value, Church told of the modern treatment of leprosy in the isolation ward at the Highland hospital. He discussed the historical aspects of this ancient disease.

In speaking of state health work. Church said that there were 15 full time departments which have done excellent work in the application of scientific medicine, both preventative and curative. He states that hospitalization and health work, at odds for a long period were working along parallel lines.

The eight fields of work covered by health work in the counties are: Sanitation, communicable disease control, tuberculosis control, maternal hygiene, infant and pre-school hygiene, school age hygiene, health education and vital statistics.

Church lauded the cooperation of agencies in Washington township with the central health offices, and mentioned that Ralph V. Richmond, local supervisor was to be commended on his work along health lines.

Dr. Swartz, of Highland hospital, assisted Dr. Church with the showing of a number of illustrative slides. Dr. Church was introduced by Mrs. R. Bendel.

Previous to Church's talk, Mrs. Hugh Kibby introduced Miss Doris Kenny of Alvarado, who rendered several violin selections. 'Hindu Chant' by Kriesler was particularly beautiful.

Mrs. J. R. Whipple reported on a meeting of the Mission pass marker committee.

The business meeting was taken up with the discussion of a card party to be held on January 24th.

TELEPHONE ALMANAC HAS INTERESTING INFORMATION

Food for thought, and material for many classroom "themes," is contained in the 1934 Telephone Almanac, free distribution of which is now in progress at the Main street office of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., according to manager W. B. Sutherland.

Among the features of this annual Bell System publication, described by Mr. Sutherland, is an "old-fashioned Rebus page with new ideas"; a table of moon phases and eclipses; and scores of facts concerning American history, particularly those illustrating how communication has welded the country into a closely-knit national community.

"Indians, colonists, heroes of the Revolution, frontiersmen, forty-niners, and communication pioneers all have their achievements and adventures recorded chronologically in the Telephone Almanac, said Mr. Sutherland.

"What Daniel Webster thought of the Far West is told on one Almanac page. In a speech Webster said: "What do we want of this vast, worthless area; this region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts, shifting sands and whirlwinds of dust? What use have we for such a country? Mr. President, I will never vote one cent from the public treasury to place the Pacific Coast one inch nearer Boston than it now is."

"Where Webster would not have spent a cent to span the continent, communication facilities costing hundreds of millions of dollars now make the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts close neighbors."

RECOVERING

Creed Dominici, Niles business man, returned to his home Monday, after undergoing a critical operation at the San Jose Hospital. He is improving rapidly.

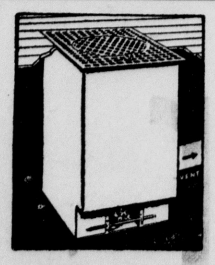
"John, we may have a bigger gas bill this month. The heat has been on all day."
"Probably so, but any kind of heating costs more in January. Most of our gas bills have been low."

Natural Gas
Naturally THE BETTER FUEL

LIVING COSTS in January are higher than in any other month of the year. More lighting is needed. More heating is needed. It is the peak month for low temperatures and high living costs.

Fortunately, since Natural Gas Heating has become so popular, one item of winter expense has been greatly cut down. With Natural Gas Heating, which maintains inside temperature at the comfort level of just above seventy degrees, the cost of keeping well has been reduced.

Install gas heating equipment this month when you need adequate and abundant heat the most. Four to ten times as much heat is needed in January when more hours each day and more days during the month are chilly than in September. Low first payment and budget terms make gas heating appliances easy to own and enjoy.



Circulating Heater
Attractive, low in first cost and highly efficient. It heats two to four rooms. Made in many sizes and styles. Extremely economical to operate.

Floor Furnace
Solves the heating problem for homes without a basement. Highly praised by thousands. Saves floor space and is easy and most economical to install and operate.
